Topic: *The leadership mystique: How to attract, engage, and retain high performing employees!

This fascinating presentation, presented by a prior Commanding Officer with years of leadership experience, looks beyond traditional models by exploring the approaches used by top performing fortune 500 companies, military units and sports teams. Through illustrative case studies, role play, and entertaining and sometimes dramatic personal stories, participants will discover practical and easily employed behaviors that significantly improve team performance and help retain top performers.

Captain Brouker served in a range of leadership positions during and after his 30-year naval career, including 15 years in the C-suite. Captain Brouker served as Commanding Officer at one of the largest naval hospitals worldwide. He also served as Chief of Staff for Navy Medicine West, responsible for 10 hospitals spanning the West Coast to the Indian Ocean and healthcare for 800,000 patients.

After transitioning from the military, Dr. Brouker founded Brouker Leadership Solutions, a company passionate about helping leaders succeed on their leadership and High Reliability Organization journey. He has provided executive coaching to leaders at all levels – from CEOs to entry level and has presented to thousands of professionals from diverse organizations in 21 countries on 5 continents. His clients include an array of Fortune 500 companies, professional and military organizations, the Veteran’s Health Administration, and top universities.

Captain Brouker volunteers as an executive coach at The Honor Foundation, a non-profit organization that helps U.S. Navy SEALs and other Special Operations Forces military transition from the military to the corporate environment.

He is author of the highly acclaimed book Lessons from the Navy: How to build trust, lead teams and create organizational excellence. Selected to the top 25 ‘Best Police Leadership Books, Forbes calls it a “concise and highly readable book...gives a fascinating glimpse into leadership.”

Dr. Brouker has also authored numerous articles on leadership published in a diverse array of magazines and periodicals, and has appeared on numerous podcasts and radio spots, including Fast Company and Savvy Business Radio.

His next book, The Nimitz Way: Leadership lessons from America’s greatest naval commander, will be published in 2024.
